Abide in Christ

My dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

As I made my final preparations to move to the Archdiocese of Santa Fe, I would like to thank you most sincerely for the good wishes and prayers that you have sent my way in the past few weeks. I was truly humbled by your warm and gracious welcome when I was with you a few weeks ago. Although it is never easy to leave a place that has been home these past eight years, your kindness and enthusiastic faith give me comfort and deepen my excitement about my new ministry in your midst.

I have had the opportunity to visit the archdiocese several times in the past and have been very impressed with the rich cultures of New Mexico, the vibrant faith, the beauty of the land and the warmth of the people. I realize that I have a lot to learn and I look forward to listening to you and learning from you in the years ahead. Archbishop Sheehan has been very kind and welcoming to me and he has been lavish in his praise of the Archdiocese of Santa Fe. There is a real joy in the people of the archdiocese and a contagious energy about celebrating and spreading the Catholic faith. I had the pleasure of joining you in 2010 for the 400th anniversary of Christianity in the Southwest. This same vital spirit was evident then as now and it excites me to be joining you as your Shepherd. God has certainly blessed you and now through you I am blessed.

Please pray for me during these days of transition. I am asking the Lord to guide me and to assist me in supporting all the good work taking place in the archdiocese. I have observed already priests, deacons, religious and lay leaders who give generously of themselves in service to the church. I have heard of the rich diversity in our parishes, schools and other Catholic communities that reflect the long tradition of our faith in the archdiocese. I am impressed with the authentic and sincere work that has been done to provide a safe environment for children and the vulnerable, recognizing that we must be rigorously vigilant in protecting our precious young people. I am eager to learn about the native cultures and traditions that inspire and enliven our Catholic faith, giving the Gospel message new vitality and vigor. Most of all, I am profoundly grateful for the opportunity to make new friends as I journey with you on the path the Lord has marked out for us together.

Please keep Archbishop Sheehan in your good prayers as well as he begins this new chapter in his life. His love, concern and affection for all of you are most evident and I count myself fortunate to succeed such a dedicated shepherd and compassionate leader. Again, please remember me in your prayers as I assure you of mine. These are very exciting and full days for us and I ask the Lord of all mercy and love to raise his arms of benediction over us now and always.

Sincerely yours in the Lord,

+ John C. Wester

Most Rev. John C. Wester,
Archbishop of Santa Fe

Mis queridos hermanos y hermanas en Cristo,

Mientras realizo los preparativos finales para mudarme a la Arquidiócesis de Santa Fe, me gustaría darles las más sinceras gracias por los buenos deseos y oraciones que me han hecho llegar en estas últimas semanas. Me sentí verdaderamente honrado por su cálida y amable bienvenida cuando estuve con ustedes hace unas semanas. Aunque nunca es fácil dejar un lugar que ha sido el hogar por los últimos ocho años, su amabilidad y fe entusiasta me confortan y aumentan mi entusiasmo por mi nuevo ministerio entre ustedes.

En el pasado, varias veces he tenido la oportunidad de visitar la Arquidiócesis y siempre me han impresionado las ricas culturas de Nuevo México, la fe tan vibrante, la belleza de la tierra y la calidez de la gente. Me doy cuenta de que tengo mucho que aprender y anhelo poder escucharles y aprender de ustedes en estos próximos años. Arzobispo Sheehan ha sido muy amable y acogedor conmigo y muy generoso en sus elogios por la Arquidiócesis de Santa Fe. Hay una verdadera alegría en la gente de la diócesis y una energía contagiosa acerca de la celebración y difusión de la fe católica. Tuve el placer de unirme a ustedes en el año 2010 para el 400° aniversario de la cristiandad en el suroeste. Este mismo espíritu vital era tan evidente entonces como lo es ahora y me emociona unirme a ustedes como su pastor. Dios ciertamente los ha bendecido y ahora a través de ustedes yo estoy siendo bendecido.

Por favor oren por mí durante estos días de transición. Le pido al Señor que me guíe y me ayude a apoyar todo el buen trabajo que se está realizando en la Arquidiócesis. Ya he observado a sacerdotes, diáconos, religiosos y líderes laicos que dan generosamente de sí mismos en su servicio a la Iglesia. He oído hablar de la rica diversidad en nuestras parroquias, escuelas y otras comunidades católicas que reflejan la larga tradición de nuestra fe en la Arquidiócesis. Estoy impresionado con el auténtico y sincero trabajo que se ha hecho para proporcionar un ambiente seguro para los niños y las personas vulnerables, reconociendo que tenemos que estar rigurosamente vigilantes en la protección de nuestros preciados jóvenes. Estoy ansioso por aprender sobre las culturas y tradiciones nativas que inspiran y dan aliento a nuestra fe católica, dando al mensaje del Evangelio una nueva vitalidad y vigor. Por encima de todo, estoy profundamente agradecido por la oportunidad de hacer nuevos amigos mientras recorro con ustedes el camino que el Señor ha trazado para nosotros juntos.

Por favor, mantengan también al Arzobispo Sheehan en sus buenas oraciones ahora que comienza este nuevo capítulo en su vida. Su amor, preocupación y cariño para todos ustedes son muy evidentes y me considero afortunado de ser el sucesor de un pastor tan dedicado y un líder compasivo. Una vez más, por favor, acuérdense de mí en sus oraciones mientras yo les aseguro las mías. Estos serán unos días muy emocionantes y ocupados para nosotros y le pido al Señor de toda misericordia y amor que eleve sus brazos de bendición sobre nosotros ahora y siempre.

Sinceramente suyo en el Señor,

+ John C. Wester

THE ARCHDIOCESE CELEBRATES A QUINTESSENTIAL PASTOR'S RETIREMENT

WE WILL FOREVER BE GRATEFUL, MSGR. FRANCIS X. EGGERT

By Deacon Keith Davis, ASF Director of Ministry Resource Center/Formation of Christian Service

On June 7, the Feast of the Body and Blood of our Lord, Jesus Christ, Msgr. Francis X. Eggert celebrated his last Sunday Mass as pastor at Our Lady of Fatima Parish in Albuquerque. This was followed by a celebration of his retirement which was attended by hundreds including parishioners, former students, and fellow priests. It was certainly appropriate that this monumental event occurred on this particular feast. As St. Augustine reminds us in regards to the Blessed Sacrament – we become what we receive. Msgr. Eggert is a quintessential example of St. Augustine's words. After presiding over the Eucharist for 57 years as a priest, this beloved pastor brought the love of Christ to thousands with his generous and devoted love.

Msgr. Eggert's service, of course, has gone far beyond his nineteen years in service as a pastor. He was a consummate administrator and educator, serving as principal of St. Pius High School in Albuquerque and as Rector of Immaculate Heart of Mary Seminary in Santa Fe. His fellow priests, many of whom came to support him at his retirement celebration express great respect for a man who has helped many of them to overcome difficulties in their own ministry.

Though he celebrates his 85th birthday this month, Msgr. Eggert will continue to serve – to share Christ's love with others. He plans on being available to assist wherever he is needed.

Archbishop Michael J. Sheehan's Luncheon with Pueblo Governors

By Alan Cherino, Native American Ministry Advisory Board Member

The Second Annual Luncheon with the Archbishop and Indian Pueblo Governors was held on May 11, 2015 at the Archdiocese of Santa Fe's Catholic Center in Albuquerque. In attendance were Archbishop Michael J. Sheehan, Pueblo Governors and their tribal officials, Pueblo church pastors and officials, and archdiocese staff, Michelle Montez, Executive Director of the Pastoral Ministries Division, Shirley Zuni, Coordinator of Native American Ministry, Bernadette Jaramillo, Director of Youth and Young Adult Ministry, and several members of the Native American Ministry Advisory Board. Pueblos represented at the luncheon were Cochiti, Isleta, Jemez, Laguna, Picuris, San Felipe, Sandia, Santa Ana, Santa Clara, Santo Domingo, and Tesuque.

The luncheon provides an opportunity for the Archbishop and Pueblo Governors to meet in-person and get to know one another. Archbishop Sheehan opened the luncheon with a few remarks and praised the Pueblo communities for their continued devotion and worship within the Catholic faith. Catholic ministry work continues throughout Pueblo country with Shirley Zuni reaching out to Pueblo people with assistance from the recently formed, Native American Ministry Advisory Board. The luncheon was also an opportunity to thank Archbishop Sheehan for his many years of faithful service as he retires from his position as Archbishop for the Archdiocese of Santa Fe. The pueblo communities are thankful for his support and reaching out to the Pueblo people over the years.

The luncheon concluded with Archbishop Sheehan presenting the Pueblo officials with a beautiful retablo of St. Kateri Tekakwitha, the first Native American to become a saint in the Catholic Church.

ARCHBISHOP MICHAEL J. SHEEHAN ORDAINED SEVEN SEMINARIANS TO THE PRIESTHOOD

CLASS OF 2015 LARGEST IN 50 YEARS

Cathedral Basilica of St. Francis of Assisi, Santa Fe, NM

Saturday, May 23, 2015 • 10:00 A.M. Mass

On Saturday, May 23, 2015 at the Cathedral Basilica of St. Francis in Santa Fe, Archbishop Michael J. Sheehan was rewarded for his many years of support and encouragement for priestly vocations by ordaining seven men to the priesthood. This was the largest ordination class in recent memory, certainly the largest class in the past 50 years.

The seven men who will become Roman Catholic priests represent the great universality that is the Church.

Three of the men are from Vietnam, one is from Poland, one from Mexico, and the two from Raton and Albuquerque, New Mexico represent ocese.

This day will be a cause of great joy for all Catholics in the archdiocese as we have been blessed not with a shortage but with an increase of seminarians in recent years.

WORLD AND NATIONAL NEWS

Climate encyclical expected to send strong moral message to the world

By Barbara J. Fraser

LIMA, Peru (CNS) -- Pope Francis' upcoming encyclical on ecology and climate is expected to send a strong moral message -- one message that could make some readers uncomfortable, some observers say.

"The encyclical will address the issue of inequality in the distribution of resources and topics such as the wasting of food and the irresponsible exploitation of nature and the consequences for people's life and health," Archbishop Pedro Barreto Jimeno of Huancaayo, Peru, told Catholic News Service.

"Pope Francis has repeatedly stated that the environment is not only an economic or political issue, but is an anthropological and ethical matter," he said. "How can you have wealth if it comes at the expense of the suffering and death of other people and the deterioration of the environment?"

The encyclical, to be published June 18, is titled "Laudato Sii" ("Praised Be"), the first words of St. Francis' "Canticle of the Creatures."

Although Archbishop Barreto was not involved in the drafting of the encyclical, he worked closely with then-Cardinal Jorge Bergoglio in 2007 on a document by the Latin American bishops' council that included an unprecedented section on the environment.

The encyclical is not expected to be a theological treatise or a technical document about environmental issues, but a pastoral call to change the way people use the planet's resources so they are sufficient not only for current needs, but for future generations, observers said.

The document "will emphasize that the option for stewardship of the environment goes hand in hand with the option for the poor," said Carmelite Father Eduardo Agosta Scarel, a climate scientist who teaches at the Pontifical Catholic University of Argentina and the National University of La Plata in Buenos Aires.

"I think the pope wants us to become aware of this," said Father Agosta, who was involved in preparatory consultations about the encyclical. "He is aiming at a change of heart. What will save us is not technology or science. What will save us is the ethical transformation of our society."

The pontiff probably foreshadowed the encyclical during his first public Mass as pope on March 19, 2013, Father Agosta said. In his homily, he said, "Let us be 'protectors' of creation, protectors of God's plan inscribed in nature, protectors of one another and of the environment."

Although the document will be published in the wake of a seminar on climate change in April at the Vatican, it will not be limited to that issue and will probably focus on the relationship between people and their environment, Archbishop Barreto said.

"What the pope brings to this debate is the moral dimension," said Anthony Annett, climate change and sustainable development adviser to the Earth Institute at Columbia University and to the non-profit Religions for Peace. "His unique way of looking at the problem, which is deeply rooted in Catholic social teaching, resonates with people all across the world."

Annett called the timing of the encyclical "extremely significant."

A month after it is published, global representatives will meet at a conference on financing for development in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

In September, the pope will address the United Nations at a session that is likely to see the approval of a new set of global development objectives, the Sustainable Development Goals, which include environmental criteria.

And in December, negotiators and world leaders will converge on Paris to finish hammering out a treat-

Cardinal: Lay ministers co-workers in evangelization mission of church

ST. LOUIS (CNS) -- As the role of the laity in the Catholic Church expands, lay ministers have a co-responsibility with their ordained counterparts in furthering the church's mission of evangelization, said Cardinal Daniel N. DiNardo of Galveston-Houston. Cardinal DiNardo was the opening speaker at the Lay Ecclesial Ministry Summit June 7-8 in St. Louis. About 120 bishops and pastoral leaders reflected on "Co-Workers in the Vineyard of the Lord," the bishops' statement on lay ecclesial ministry released 10 years ago. They also discussed the current landscape of lay ministry and what the future holds. The summit, held just prior to the bishops' annual spring general assembly June 10-12 in St. Louis, was sponsored by U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops' Committee on Laity, Marriage, Family Life and Youth, Committee on Cultural Diversity in the Church and the Subcommittee on Certification for Ecclesial Ministry and Service, with the support of the Committee on Doctrine. There are more than 39,600 lay ecclesial ministers in the United States, according to the Center for Applied Research in the Apostolate at Georgetown University. They are primarily involved in religious education, sacramental preparation, liturgy and/or music ministry and general parish administration. Cardinal DiNardo said the bishops' statement was a "watershed document" that offered a slice of a fuller picture of "delineating the meaning about co-responsibility among the faithful and the shepherds for the church's mission of evangelization."

From Sunday night, June 21st through Wednesday night, June 24th, Bro. Joseph will provide evening sessions for those who work, and morning sessions for those who are free. God reveals Himself in daily details. He reaches out to you every instant of the day. Learn how to recognize His loving caress, and respond lovingly.

Bro. Joseph will start his second week, on St. Therese, Monday morning, June 29th, and will offer two sessions per morning through Friday noon, July 3rd. Evening sessions run Monday through Thursday. He will present insights to his popular book "Walking the Little Way of St. Therese of Lisieux". Learn her way of love, expressed by doing small things to please God.

He will offer five evening sessions, Sunday through Thursday, plus two morning sessions per day, Monday through Friday. Listen to Mary our mom speaking just a few sentences from scripture, but volumes from her great example. See how she provides Jesus for us, and nurtures His life in us. Learn from St. John Paul II, and from Pope Benedict XVI, how to trace Our Lady's gentle influence on us.

The Spirituality Institute offers these events free of charge, with optional donations. Generous donors cover costs of these presentations. More details are available at www.sfis.org, or email bdybowski2@gmail.com, or call Bro. Brian at 505.470.0377.

The Coat of Arms of His Excellency Most Reverend John Charles Wester 12th Archbishop of Santa Fe

The Most Reverend John C. Wester's Coat of Arms reflects Faith, Devotion and Union with Christ -- and contains symbols of his personal journey of faith: The Sacred heart of Jesus, Mary the Mother of God, and words from the Gospel of Saint John the Evangelist. The heart surrounded by thorns and surmounted by flames is the traditional symbol of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. This represents Archbishop Wester's personal devotion to the Sacred Heart and his complete reliance on Christ's ineffable and unfathomable love. As the church prays during the Eucharist, it is in Christ that we live and move and have our being. It was on Friday, June 19, 1998, the Feast of the Sacred Heart, that Archbishop Wester received news of the Holy Father's call to become a bishop.

The red rose, or rosette, is an ancient symbol of Mary, the Mystical Rose. Archbishop Wester's family has lived for many years in Our Lady of Mercy Parish in Daly City where he attended grammar school and furthered his deep devotion to the Mother of God, a devotion which took its beginnings in the cradle of his home where the rosary was often prayed.

The Book of the Gospels is open to the first words of the Gospel of Saint John the Evangelist, Archbishop Wester's patron saint: In Principio erat Verbum et Verbum erat apud Deum. (In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God.) Archbishop Wester humbly acknowledges his desire to proclaim the Gospel of Jesus Christ to all people, at all times and in all places. By following Christ's call, he seeks to reflect the light of Christ in our world.

The pronounced use of blue and green gives witness to Archbishop Wester's Swedish and Irish heritage, and so honors his father and mother, Charles and Helen, the first teachers of their son in the ways of faith and love.

Archbishop Wester's motto, "Abide in Christ," also honors the Evangelist of the Fourth Gospel and is taken from Jesus' discourse at the Last Supper, John 15:4 "Abide in me, as I abide in you." The use of the word "abide" underscores the intimate and permanent relationship we have with Christ. As branches only live if they are attached to the vine, so we live only in union with Christ, the Lamb of God. All this is seen in the sinister impalement (right side) of the device.

By heraldic tradition, the arms of an archbishop, (impaled) with the arms of his jurisdiction, seen in the dexter impalement (left side) of the shield, in this case the Archdiocese of Santa Fe. These arms are composed of a red field (background) on which is displayed a gold (yellow) cross, of "The Faith," to signify the name of the See City, "Holy Faith." In the upper left quarter, that is created by the cross, is a tower triple-towered, of Castile (Spain). Issuing from the base of these arms are the crossed arms of Christ and St. Francis of Assisi, a classic representation of Saint Francis, to honor the titular of the Cathedral in the See City and also the Franciscan Missionaries who first evangelized in this area. All these arms are rendered in red and gold (yellow) which are traditional Spanish colors, signifying that the area around Santa Fe was, for a long time, a Spanish Colony. The device is completed with the external ornaments which are a gold archiepiscopal (two cross members) processional cross, which is placed in back of the shield and which extends above and below the shield, and

Most Reverend John C. Wester 12th Archbishop of Santa Fe

A native of San Francisco, California, John Charles Wester was ordained a Roman Catholic priest for the Archdiocese of San Francisco on May 15, 1976. He earned degrees from Saint Joseph College, Mountain View, Saint Patrick Seminary, Menlo Park, the University of San Francisco and Holy Names College, Oakland.

Following his priestly ordination, he served in Bay area parishes, Catholic high school administration and as Administrative Assistant to Archbishop John R. Quinn. In 1997 Pope John Paul II named him a Prelate of Honor with the title of Monsignor. He served as Vicar for Clergy in the Archdiocese and in 1998 was ordained Auxiliary Bishop of San Francisco. From 2005-2006 the Bishop was the Apostolic Administrator of the Archdiocese.

On January 8, 2007 Bishop Wester was appointed the ninth Bishop of the Diocese of Salt Lake City and installed in Utah on March 14, 2007. His kind and thoughtful manner reflects his Episcopal motto: Abide in Christ.

Throughout his ministry, Bishop Wester has served on numerous committees and boards locally, regionally, nationally and internationally. He currently serves on the following United States Conference of Catholic Bishop committees: the Administrative Committee, the Subcommittee on the Church in Africa, Committee on International Justice and Peace and is a consultant for Ecumenical and Inter-religious Affairs. Presently the Bishop chairs the US-CCB Communication and Migration Committees and is a member of the Vatican Pontifical Council for the Pastoral Care of Migrants and Itinerant People.

SANTA FE, N.M. (CNS) -- In his homily for his installation Mass June 4 as the new archbishop of Santa Fe, Archbishop John C. Wester recalled that Christ is represented symbolically as both the good shepherd and the lamb of God.

"You and I are called to resign to ourselves in front of Our Lord Jesus as he did when he became one in us," the archbishop said in Spanish. "As his disciples, the Lord calls us to give one and another so we can be the body of Christ, the church."

Switching to English, the archbishop developed these themes more deeply.

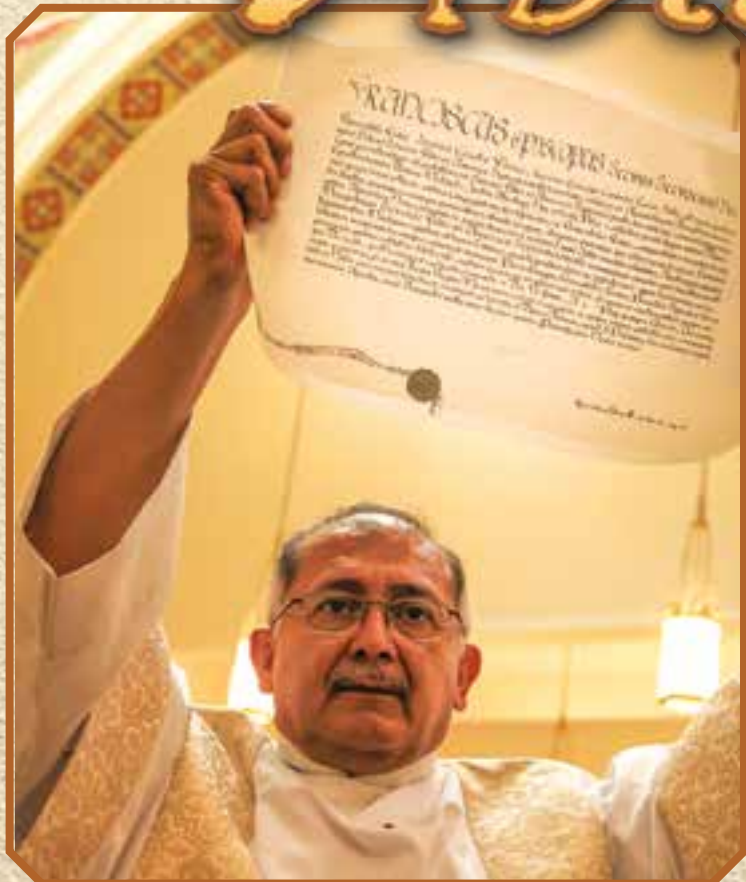

"The image of the lamb in our churches points to the Good Shepherd in today's Gospel, who cares for the sheep so much that he laid down his life for them, becoming the lamb of sacrifice," he said. "It is precisely as the lamb of sacrifice that Jesus fulfills his role of shepherd, leading us through the cross to the Father, at whose right hand he sits."

Saying he was grateful to God for calling him to New Mexico, he added, "I am eager to listen to you and to learn from you how God has been working in your midst, calling you to new and ever-deepening life."

Archbishop Wester, 64, had headed the Salt Lake City Diocese, which encompasses the entire state of Utah, since 2007. On April 28,

Pope Francis named him to succeed Archbishop Michael J. Sheehan.

His installation Mass was celebrated at the Cathedral Basilica of St. Francis of Assisi in Santa Fe.

“Taking my cue from Pope Francis,” he said in his homily, “I realize there will be times when I lead from the front of the flock, or from behind, but always my place is squarely in your midst, giving thanks for your willingness to receive me, and assuring you of my desire to serve you to the best of my ability.

Although he will miss the church in Utah, he said, “it is their love and their support that now will enable me to open myself to you, my brothers and sisters of this pilgrim church in the Southwest for years to come.”

He mentioned that his father and friends, such as Sulpician Father Gene Konkell “and so many other family and friends in the Communion of Saints, are praying for me at this very moment. My Swedish father probably is tapping Father Gene on the shoulder and saying, ‘How did that square-head ever make it to Santa Fe.’ But I’m sure he’s also saying, ‘That’s my boy.’”

Another theme of Archbishop Wester’s homily was that Catholics are called “to serve the presence of God in the public square and to lead others to the good news that has found us and has taken hold of us. We who recognize the voice of the Good Shepherd are called to bring hope to the whole world, inviting others into the fold through our evangelization, our living of the Gospel,” he said.

By pointing out God, who is in everything, to others, especially those who are suffering, he said, “we bring them evangelical hope; that is, we remind them that they are not alone -- Christ is there with them, and in the midst of it all, and he will never, ever abandon them.”

When Catholics encounter strangers, “our first concern is not whether they have the proper documentation; our first concern is to welcome them and show them hospitality, and know that we are one with them in Jesus Christ,” he said.

“That stranger is not always someone from another country. It can also be someone in our own family, our own parish, our own neighborhood.”

He added that many people “in our midst” suffer from drug or alcohol addiction, fear of losing their employment, mental illness, bigotry or loneliness.

The Catholic Church of Santa Fe has many other issues to address, including poverty, ensuring that the sanctity of human life is valued and upheld, and maintaining a safe environment for youth and young adults, he said.

“In all of this, you and I are called not simply to point to the Good Shepherd, but to enlarge the fold, to help others realize that we are one, and we give of ourselves not out of charity, necessarily, but because we are one in Christ, united in love and mercy,” he said.

Referencing Psalm 145, the archbishop said justice and mercy must go together.

“We must always show mercy to everyone, since God loves all his children, especially those who are most vulnerable, whose lives hang in the balance like a smoldering wick or a bruised reed, whether in the womb, living in the streets, or far from home,” he said.

Archbishop Wester told the congregation he cannot be their bishop unless he is one with them.

“And I can’t be one with you unless you embrace me as your bishop. I look forward to the years ahead as we journey with each other in the process of becoming one with Christ and one with each other, giving glory and praise to God as we are called to the Supper of the Lamb.”

Ending his homily in Spanish, he said: “Please pray for me so I can keep following Christ, our good shepherd, giving myself completely to this faithful church of Santa Fe as your new pastor, so that in the upcoming years our loving God blesses and guides our steps as witnesses of the Lamb of God present in our midst in all the Southwest.”

ty aimed at reducing the emission of greenhouse gases that contribute to global warming.

Some politicians have already questioned the pope's credentials for wading into the issue of climate change, but that is only one of several environmental problems the pope is likely to address, said David Kane, a Maryknoll lay missionary in Joao Pessoa, Brazil, who works with Maryknoll's Faith-Economics-Ecology Program.

The pope has spoken out in the past on the "throwaway culture, both of material goods that we buy and use for a few months and then throw out, and also throwaway people," he said.

Kane hopes the encyclical will help people understand that overusing resources, from forests to fish to water, results in scarcity that can both increase and be exacerbated by climate change. He expects Pope Francis will remind people of the responsibility of caring for God's creation.

"Whether you think climate change is a problem or not, you cannot deny that running out of fish, oil, water and other resources is a really big problem. The solution is a radical change in our concept of what makes a person happy. We need to move away from the idea that the more things we have, the happier we'll be," Kane said.

Archbishop Barreto expects some controversy once people read the document, because resisting the "throwaway culture" by being satisfied with less means "putting money at the service of people, instead of people serving money."

"(The encyclical) will have many critics, because they want to continue setting rules of the game in which money takes first place," he said. "We have to be prepared for those kinds of attacks."

CONGREGATIO
PRO EPISCOPIS

RECEIVED MAY 13 2015

Prot. N. 679/2014

Vatican City, April 27, 2015

Your Excellency,

On the occasion of your resignation from the Office of Bishop, I would like to convey to you the appreciation of Pope Francis for your thirty-one years of episcopal service, first as Ordinary of Lubbock and then as Metropolitan Archbishop of Santa Fe. The Holy Father also expresses to you his closeness in prayer that you may continue to enjoy pastoral service in ways your health and God's providence permit.

You led the Archdiocese of Santa Fe for more than twenty-one years doing your best to make the voice of Christ heard and heeded. It is the hope of the Holy Father that, free from the burdens of administration, you will experience serene joy in the years ahead, united in faith and charity with the Archbishop, priests, deacons, religious and laity of Santa Fe.

His Holiness wishes you the joy and satisfaction which come through an awareness of the manifold graces which the Lord has accomplished through your fifty years of priestly ministry. May you draw spiritual strength in reflecting on that privilege which is yours as a successor to the Apostles.

Commending you to the loving intercession of Our Lady, Queen of the Apostles, and with fraternal affection in our Lord Jesus Christ, His Holiness imparts to you his Apostolic Blessing, invoking upon you grace and peace.

I take this occasion to assure you of my prayers and my sentiments of esteem and fraternal regard.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

The Most Reverend Michael J. SHEEHAN
Archbishop Emeritus of Santa Fe

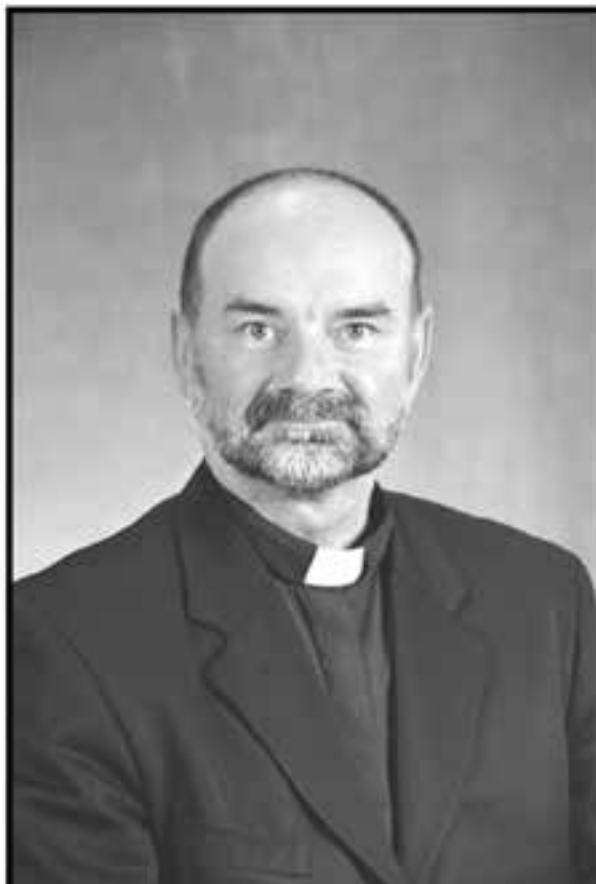

SAY HELLO TO OUR SEVEN NEW PRIESTS!

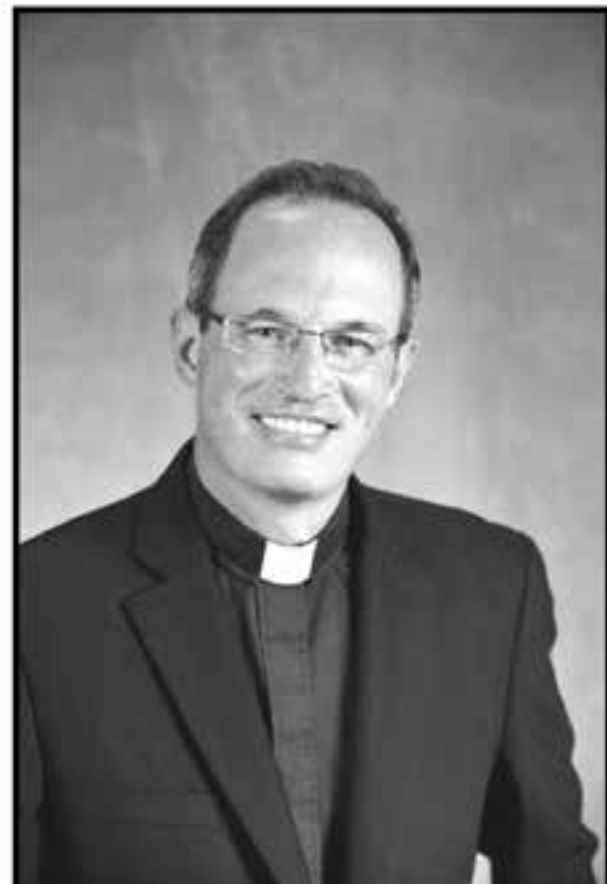

Father Michael Garcia

Father Michael is 46 years old and is from Albuquerque. He is one of five children. He has always felt the call to the priesthood since childhood. But when his parents died when he was a teenager he decided to join the Navy. When he left the Navy he cared for his grandmother until she passed away. He attended Sacred Heart Parish where he was involved in various ministries. And then in the Summer of 2009 he met with Father DePalma who encouraged him to enter the seminary. He went to Holy Apostles Seminary. During the Summer months helped out in St. Anne's in Santa Fe, Our Lady of Guadalupe in Taos, and San Juan Bautista in Ohkay Owingeh. For him "the priesthood is a life of love—love for Christ and His Church."

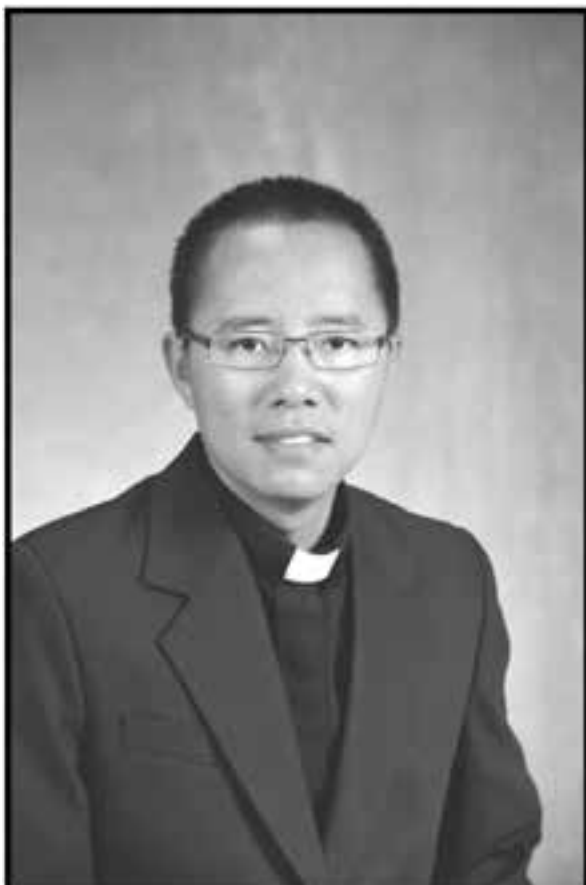

Father William Woytovich

Father William is 55 years old and was born in Poland. He has spent several years here in New Mexico first with the Monastery of Christ in the Desert and then with the Benedictines in Pecos. Though he greatly benefited from the monastic life he felt through prayer that he had to pursue the diocesan priesthood. Father William has a varied background, being a former U.S. Marine, and working in telecommunications for a period of time. Father William is a very good student and has graduated from Holy Apostles Seminary in Cromwell, Connecticut. He is a man of great common sense and has a very good sense of humor so he should be keeping his parishioners awake at his Masses! His previous summer assignments include serving the people at Our Lady of Belen, Annunciation Parish in Albuquerque, and did his Spanish at the Mexican American Catholic College in San Antonio.

Father Rob Yaksich

Father Rob is 46 years old and is from Raton, NM. He went to college at Trinidad State in Trinidad, Colorado and then the University of New Mexico. He has lived in Amarillo, Texas, Seattle, Washington, Alaska, and then in Tucson, AZ. It was in Arizona that he first felt the call to become a priest. Then the Lord brought him back to Albuquerque to Our Lady of Annunciation Parish. Here became an active member which helped him grow in his faith. And though much prayer and discernment it became crystal clear that he was meant to be a priest. So he studied for the priesthood at Holy Apostles Seminary in Cromwell, Ct. For the summer he assisted in many parishes that include: Our Lady of Guadalupe in Peralta, St. Alice in Mountainair, Our Lady of Belen, and St. Patrick in Chama.

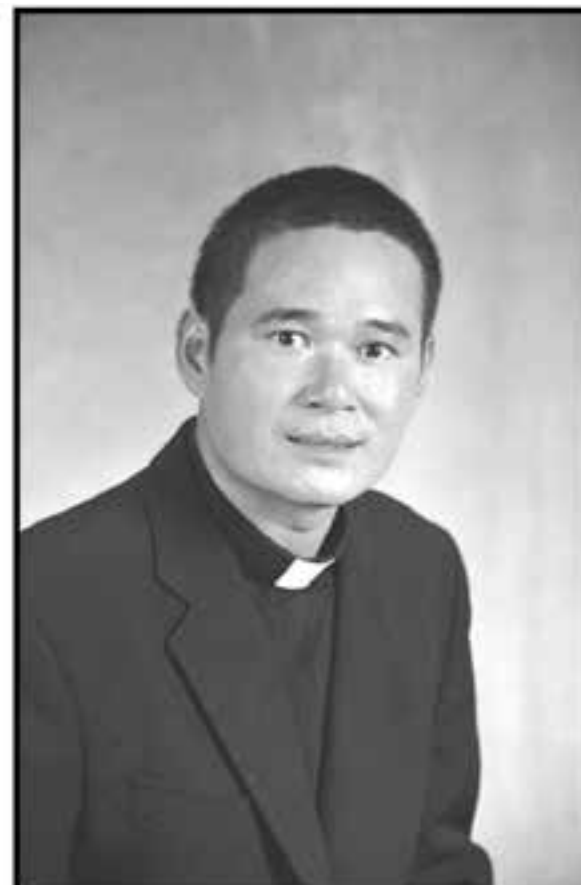

Father Benoit Trieu Van Vu

Father Benoit is 43 years old and is from Vietnam. He is the youngest of a fervent Catholic family of seven children. He has wanted to be a priest since he was 10 years old. He grew up not always having access to the Sacraments because they did not have a pastor in his village. In Vietnam it is difficult to be a Catholic. When he was 22 years old he entered a Benedictine Monastery in Saigon but always sensed there was something more. When he was 37 years old he went to Mount Angel Abbey in Oregon to study scripture. This experience only strengthened his desire to be a priest. So through the help of Christ in the Desert Monastery he was led to our Vocations Office to finish his studies and become a priest. Father Benoit spent this past year on a Pastoral Year at St. Charles Borromeo in Albuquerque getting ready to serve the people of the Archdiocese of Santa Fe.

Father Edgar Sanchez

Father Edgar is 43 years old and is from Mexico City. When he was very young one of his teachers encourage him and planted within him a religious vocation. He however could not foster what the Lord wanted until he came to the United States in 1997. While attending DePaul University in Chicago he felt the Lord calling him again. Through a series of events he ended up joining the Jesuits and did one year as a novice. But he discovered he did not have the right fit for the Jesuits. So he came to Pecos Benedictine Monastery here in New Mexico where he felt drawn by the prayers and the atmosphere of our state. He went to Mount Angel Seminary to study Theology and has served in various parishes around the Archdiocese including Holy Ghost and San Martin de Porres in Albuquerque, Sacred Heart in Espanola, and San Clemente in Los Lunas.

Father Joseph Van Tao Nguyen

Father Joseph is 34 years old and is from Ha Tinh City, Vietnam. He is the youngest of five boys. He felt the call to the priesthood at the age of twelve. With the help of his parish priest growing up he was able to get an education because his family was very poor. Father Joseph studied in the Philippines and then in Rome. It was in Rome that he met seminarians from the Archdiocese of Santa Fe, this sparked a desire within him to come to the United States and become a priest here. To finish his studies he attended Holy Apostles Seminary in Connecticut. He spent a summer at Our Lady of Belen and did a six month pastoral year at St. Thomas Aquinas Parish in Rio Rancho. For Father Joseph the priesthood means "to be a disciple of Jesus—to follow him in his footsteps. It is more than a job but a way of being and living in this world. To be a priest I will give my whole life to Christ as his servant."

"The Priest receives his "name," his very identity, from Christ. Everything he does is done in his name."

Pope Benedict XVI

Father Valentine Phu Ngoc Au

Father Valentine is 39 years old and is from Cantho, Vietnam. He has four brothers and four sisters—he is number seven in line. His parents are very devout Catholics. He has always wanted to be a priest because he greatly desires to give his life to Christ completely. He joined the Congregation of the Holy Family in 1995 and took Perpetual vows in 2009. But he wanted more, so in 2011 he stated taking Theology at Holy Apostles College and Seminary. And with the aide of Father Michael DePalma he became a seminarian of our Archdiocese. He spent several months at Our Lady of Guadalupe in Peralta, NM and Our Lady of Annunciation in preparation for his ordination and his ministry.

NEWLY ORDAINED TRANSITIONAL DEACONS

Deacon John Paul Afuecheta

John Paul is 31 years old and is from Obeagu Village in Nigeria. He is the youngest of three children. Since he was six years old he has always felt the call to give his life to Christ in a priestly vocation. He entered the Pallottine Community in 2007. He studied philosophy and the theology in the Republic of South Africa. However, because of complications and through the advice of his Spiritual director left that religious community in 2012. Through the advice of spiritual advisors and much prayer he decided to apply for the Archdiocese of Santa Fe and he was accepted by Archbishop Sheehan. We are so blessed to have him as one of our new Transitional Deacons. He is devoted to the Blessed Virgin Mary and has prayed the rosary daily since he was a young boy. He is a musician. He is able to complete any task given him and fulfill his responsibilities. He will be serving at Holy Ghost Parish and then go back to Holy Apostles Seminary to complete his studies.

Deacon Ted Butler

Ted is 55 years old and grew up in Arak, New Mexico. He has three brothers and three sisters. He lived on a farm and played sports like baseball, basketball, and some football. As an adult he joined the Navy. He became Catholic as an adult through St. Helen's Parish in Portales. Later he met Fr. James McOowan who asked him if he felt called to be a priest and after the Archbishop validated his vocation he started his priestly studies at Holy Apostles Seminary. When asked what it means to be a priest he stated: "As a convert I know and understand the need for a priest to open the door and invite the people to have a more personal relationship with Jesus." Ted has served in various parishes including: Our Lady of Sorrows in Bernalillo and San Miguel Parish in Socorro. Ted will be serving at Annunciation Parish this summer before returning to seminary to finish his studies to be ordained to the priesthood next year.

Deacon Angelo Marquez

Angelo Marquez will be 25 years old this July and though he was born in Gallup, New Mexico, he has lived in Rio Rancho with his family since 1996. He is from Immaculation Parish and was very active there in both Life Teen and in being a Core Teens Leader for the youth ministry group. He is a graduate of Franciscan University in Steubenville, Ohio and in one more year will be graduating from the Pontifical College Josephinum in Columbus, Ohio. Angelo is a very likeable, personable young man who has the great ability to get along well with everyone of all ages and backgrounds. He has done summer assignments at Our Lady of Guadalupe in Taos and did his Spanish immersion in Costa Rica last summer. This summer he will be helping out with both the parish and the collegians at the Aquinas Newman Center at UNM. Angelo has stated that since love is at the core of the Gospel, that he would be honored and humbled to take that love of God into his daily ministry as a priest.

Deacon Leon Vigil

Leon is 29 years old and was born in Santa Fe, NM. He is the youngest of four children. His parents are devoted Catholics. Since he was very young he has always felt the call to the priesthood. After high school he went to the University of New Mexico thinking that maybe the priesthood was not for him. But that call would not leave him. So in the fall of 2010 he started his studies at Mount Angel Seminary in Oregon. He has helped out in various parishes during the summer. He studied Spanish in Costa Rica. And he spend a pastoral year at St. Thomas Aquinas Parish in Rio Rancho. He will be serving this summer at St. Patrick's in Clama, NM before returning to seminary to finish his studies to be ordained to the priesthood.

What is a Transitional Deacon?

"In the Roman Catholic Church, a transitional deacon is a celibate man who has been ordained a deacon and who intends to become a priest. Transitional deacons are usually ordained to the diaconate after they complete their third year at the theological seminary. For several centuries, all Roman Catholic deacons were in this transitional stage between layman and priest.

The role of permanent deacons, usually a married man who is unable to remarry after ordination if his wife predeceases him, was revived after the Second Vatican Council in the 1960s."

Michael Niemczak

As someone born on the Fourth of July, Michael will be 25 this summer and has quite the background. He was born in Alamosa, Colorado where his parents had immigrated to from Poland but soon moved with his family to New York and then back to Poland for a time. He is a graduate of Cibola High School in Albuquerque, and is a member of St. Thomas Aquinas Parish in Rio Rancho where he was involved with the youth group and with Life Teen. Michael has one more year of study at the North American College in Rome and his summer assignments include helping out at St. Helen's in Portales, San Clemente in Los Lunas, a summer spent in the Holy Land and last year did a great job ministering to so many different types of people at the Aquinas Newman Center at UNM. As Michael once stated, what attracted him to the priestly life in the first place is the desperate need for fathers in this world. "I want to be with my parish family as often as I can, serving my birds with all I have. I see diocesan priests who days are completely filled with giving the sacraments to the people, and I want that."

Do you feel God is calling you to the priesthood?

St. Joseph our Role Model

by Michael Niemczak

St. Joseph is everyman's saint. We can see this in the various titles the Church has given him: Husband of Mary, Joseph the Worker, Foster-Father of Jesus, and Patron of the Universal Church, to name a few. Indeed, there is no Christian who cannot look to him for help and inspiration on our path of loving Jesus Christ, whom he knew so well. All of us, in every state of life, can confidently call on this man to whom God entrusted His very own Only Begotten Son. He cared for the Christ-child and will care for each one of us. He helps all workers and all those searching for work, all spouses and all parents; indeed he helps all of us who have been charged with letting Christ grow in our lives and homes in New Mexico just as he watched Christ grow up in his home in Nazareth.

Priests, though, have a very particular connection to this great saint, who "teaches us that it is possible to love without possessing," in the words of Pope-Emeritus Benedict XVI. Priests have a unique link to St. Joseph because though he was a husband, he was the husband of Mary, Ever-Virgin, who is the supreme and spotless model of the Church; though he cared for Jesus as if He were his own, Joseph knew that in the crib lay not his son, but the very Son of God Most High.

Priests (and we seminarians who are on the path to priesthood) are called to a similar sort of love: to wed ourselves to the Church that Mary symbolizes; to care for children who are not biologically our own, but have been given to us by God Himself. It is a task too great for any of us, just as Joseph's was too great for him, but because of that very fact we can take him as our patron and learn from him how to live out this tremendous vocation.

St. Joseph was called by God to sacrifice a normal wife and natural fatherhood in order to be the man who would care for Mary, who was consecrated entirely to God, and Jesus, who was His only Son. He shares the priest's sacrifice but in doing so shows priests the joy that is yet greater: the opportunity to share forever in God's own fatherhood, not in the natural way, but one gloriously supernatural!

St. Joseph, pray for our priests, that they may imitate your purity and your fatherly care, your closeness to Mary and deep love for Christ. Amen!

future plans; a trip with other deacons and their wives. We are grateful to the many people who served as examples and mentors in this journey of married life, especially our parents, our pastors, and our brothers and sisters in Christ.

Congratulations on being appointed Archbishop of our Archdiocese. We are a group of lay people associated with the Congregation of the Blessed Sacrament, headquartered in Cleveland, Ohio.

The congregation had come to our archdiocese in the early 1950's taking over the Shrine on Gold Avenue and then served 41 years at Saint Charles Borromeo Parish in Albuquerque, New Mexico. We strive to carry on the charism and Eucharistic spirituality inspired by their founder, Saint Peter Julian Eymard. We currently meet at Saint Therese of the Little Flower Church where we were warmly welcomed this past year by pastor Father Vincent Chavez.

We wish Archbishop Wester all God's blessing and good graces as our new Archbishop and Shepherd.
